

BEVERLY HILLS DINING

The eclectic, international selection of restaurants throughout Beverly Hills represent the pinnacle of Southern California dining, embracing modern pillars of luxury, including local and sustainable sourcing and elevated culinary techniques that reinvigorate traditional methods. Chefs from around the globe, attracted to the city's sun-soaked glamour and California's lush farmers' markets, prepare cuisine ranging from familiar to groundbreaking. The Golden Triangle showcases eateries alongside opulent retailers, and Little Restaurant Row, nearby on Canon Drive, provides even more choices from around the globe.

WORLD-CLASS CUISINE

From celebrity chefs to celebrity followings, Beverly Hills' selection of fine dining restaurants guarantees impeccable dining experiences served with a strong chance of VIP encounters. Legendary names helm time-tested concepts and innovative offshoots, like Wolfgang Puck's Spago and CUT Lounge, or Nobu Matsuhisa's eponymous Matsuhisa. Other iconic upscale venues include Crustacean, the Vietnamese fusion restaurant which recently re-emerged from a six-month renovation, The Grill on the Alley, a traditional steakhouse perfect for power-lunches and celebrity chef Curtis Stone's Maude Restaurant, which offers a quarterly tasting menu inspired by different wine regions across the globe.

AL FRESCO DINING

Few experiences capture the California lifestyle quite as completely as dining al fresco in Beverly Hills. Dining spots such as 208 Rodeo Restaurant and Il Pastaio offer tasty dishes served at sidewalk tables, perfect for catching a glimpse of famous passersby. Rooftop restaurants such as A60 at SIXTY Beverly Hills or The Rooftop by JG at Waldorf Astoria Beverly Hills serve a range of small bites, full meals and specialty cocktails set high above the city, offering panoramic views of Beverly Hills and surrounding Los Angeles sites.

HEALTHY AND NUTRITIOUS

California's reputation for pushing the boundaries of health-conscious menus comes to life in Beverly Hills, where diet-friendly venues cater to all palates. These outposts call on the state's abundant and flavorful fruits and vegetables while staying up-to-date on the latest health trends, dietary restrictions, and eclectic organic ingredients. Popular options include Beverly Hills' first walk-up window smoothie bar, Planet Smoothie, vegan-based Gratitude Kitchen + Bar and Greenleaf Gourmet Chopshop, which turns out healthy, organic iterations of familiar American dishes.

CASUAL EATERIES

While every meal in Beverly Hills can be an occasion, plenty of casual eateries blend glamorous inspirations with fresh California produce to offer quick bites, to-go offerings and a deliciously relaxing respite. Caffe Roma's upscale bar and lounge area offers a robust happy hour of pre-meal aperitifs and signature cocktails while Ladurée Beverly Hills' Parisian tea room serves everything from French macarons and other tea favorites. From legendary spots, such as The Cabana Café at The Beverly Hills Hotel, a celebrity-favorite and one of L.A.'s most sought-after outdoor dining areas, while eateries, including The Farm of Beverly Hills, showcase California's fresh organic produce and culinary spirit. From the low-key to the boisterous, Beverly Hills offers many places to enjoy a meal without a dress code.

BARS AND LOUNGES

After watching the sunset against the silhouette of palm trees, visitors seek sophisticated bars, lounges and clubs offering quintessential after-dark Beverly Hills experiences. From luxurious enclaves, such as The Club Bar at The Peninsula Beverly Hills, exuding the charm of a 1900s gentlemen's lounge, to an elegant bar at Jean-Georges restaurant at Waldorf Astoria Beverly Hills, Beverly Hills has a spot to fit every personality. Iconic local favorites include Spago and Mastro's Penthouse, serving innovative cocktails al fresco, perched atop the steakhouse. Additional nightlife destinations include Honor Bar, Heritage Fine Wines, CUT Lounge at Beverly Wilshire, A Four Seasons Hotel and more.
